1-2. Travel to Japan

(1) Visa and Status of Residence

In general, when coming to Japan foreign nationals must be in possession of a valid passport and have obtained a visa in advance. Moreover, upon arriving in Japan, they must undergo screening by immigration officials, who will determine a "status of residence" and "period of stay," which are stamped in their passports, allowing them to enter Japan.

An official status of residence is mandatory for all foreigners wishing to live in Japan. International students at Tohoku University must obtain the "Student" status of residence. Obtaining this status of residence requires a Certificate of Eligibility (COE). Once the COE has been obtained, the student must take it to the nearest Japanese Embassy or Consulate to apply for a visa.

The Tohoku University International Support Office will prepare the application form that will be used to apply to the Immigration Bureau for the COE.

Tohoku University International Support Office: http://sup.bureau.tohoku.ac.jp/visa/index_en.html

Please follow the below procedures to apply for a COE.

1. Those preparing to enroll should read the instructions for the online COE application in advance. Instructions for the online application: http://sup.bureau.tohoku.ac.jp/visa/images/form1/F1_1student_e.docx
2. On April 10 (tentative) the FGL Admissions Office will send "Form2," which is needed to complete the online COE application, by email to those who have completed the enrollment procedures. Please complete the online application as soon as you receive the form.
3. The COE will be issued in late August (e.g. in 2017 it was issued August 23). Those entering the university on October 1 should come to Japan on or after September 16.

Note 1: Residents of Taiwan should apply for a visa through the Interchange Association, Japan office in their place of residence: Taipei Office (http://www.koryu.or.jp/taipei/ez3_contents.nsf/Top) or Kaohsiung Office (http://www.koryu.or.jp/kaohsiung/ez3_contents.nsf/Top).

Note 2: The COE is unnecessary for those who already live in Japan or have Japanese citizenship.

(2) Preparing for the trip to Japan

Please be sure to read the information on the International Support Office website about preparing for the trip to Japan and the living environment in Japan.

International Support Office, Tohoku University: http://sup.bureau.tohoku.ac.jp/pre/index_en.html

You should carefully read the pages titled "Pre-Arrival" and "Visa and Status of Residence" as these contain information you need to know before departing.

(3) Residence Card and Resident Registration

All foreigners entering Japan for mid/long-term stays will receive an entry permit stamp on their passport. Those staying in Japan mid/long-term are then issued a Residence Card. These are issued at the Narita, Haneda, Chubu, Kansai, Chitose, Hiroshima, and Fukuoka airports. If you arrive at another airport, you will receive a note on your passport stating that a Residence Card will be issued later. In this case, you will receive the Residence Card after registering your address in Japan (Resident Registration) at your ward office.

Please note that even if you received a Residence Card upon entering the country, you must register your address at your ward office (Residence Registration).

(4) Permission to Engage in Activity Other than that Permitted under the Status of Residence Previously Granted (work permit)

By law, persons residing in Japan under "Student" status are not allowed to work. However, students who apply for a work permit may work part-time to pay for school and living expenses (up to 28 hours per week, or eight hours per day during extended holiday periods; working at adult entertainment businesses is forbidden). Also, international students residing in Japan under "Student" status do not require a work permit to perform paid employment that contributes to education or research under contract with the university (e.g. TAs, RAs, etc.).

You can apply for a work permit during immigration procedures at the airport upon arriving in Japan. If you do not submit the application when entering the country, you can do so at the Sendai Immigration Bureau.

2. Scholarships

(1) Japanese Government (Monbukagakusho: MEXT) Scholarship (October 2018-September 2022 graduation)

Of those who indicated that they wish to receive a scholarship at the time of their application, 8 successful FGL applicants (total for the 3 courses) who achieved excellent scores on the entrance examination and meet the criteria specified by MEXT, will be recommended to MEXT as Japanese Government Scholarship Students. Screening results for this will be announced by e-mail on July 4 (tentative).

Recipients will have to take certain subjects that are mandatory for MEXT Scholarship students after enrolling and maintain a GPA of over 2.30 while receiving scholarship payments. (The formula used to calculate GPA will be explained at the enrollment Orientation.) The recipients' GPAs will be reviewed each academic year; if they drop below the specified level, they will be required to withdraw from the scholarship.

Scholarship recipients will receive a monthly stipend of JPY 119,000 for four years, from October 2018 until graduation in September 2022. Each recipient will also receive an economy class air ticket from the international airport nearest his/her place of residence (in general, must be in their home country) to Narita International Airport. (If a direct flight to Sendai Airport is available, the recipient may be permitted to fly there instead.) However, recipients must cover the cost of traveling to the international airport nearest their place of residence, and of traveling within Japan, themselves. Each recipient will also receive an economy class air ticket from Narita International Airport to the international airport nearest their place of residence upon graduating four years later.

Admission and tuition fees will not be collected from the recipients, so they are not eligible for the President Fellowship described in (2).

(2) President Fellowship (October 2018-September 2022 graduation)

All those who indicated that they wish to receive a scholarship at the time of their application, except recipients of the Japanese Government Scholarship described in (1), will be awarded the President Fellowship for Undergraduate International Students. The university will apply on the applicants' behalf, so no application is needed on their part. Recipients of this fellowship will receive a sum equal to the admission and tuition (half the yearly amount) fees, which will be transferred to the bank accounts they designate at the end of November 2018. Thereafter, an amount equal to tuition (half the yearly amount) will be paid to them twice a year, every April and October, for seven total installments (tuition for four years).

Please note that students selected for the President Fellowship are NOT exempt from paying admission and tuition fees. There is a waiver application system for these fees, but in general all entrants must pay. This Fellowship awards an amount equal to the admission and tuition fees so that the recipients can pay these fees.

After being accepted recipients will be subject to reviews of their grades and scholastic progress; Fellowship payments may be terminated if their performance is deemed inadequate.

(3) MEXT Honors Scholarship for Privately Financed International Students (October 2018-March 2019)

Those who indicated that they wish to receive a scholarship at the time of their application, except recipients of the Japanese Government Scholarship described in (1), and who have excellent academic records, are of excellent character, face difficulty studying due to economic reasons, and fulfill MEXT's application requirements, will be recommended for the MEXT Honors Scholarship for Privately Financed International Students. However, students who underwent 2nd Stage Screening for FGL in Japan are NOT eligible. The university will apply on the applicants' behalf, so no application is needed on their part. Scholarship recipients will receive a monthly stipend of JPY 48,000 for half a year, from October 2018 until March 2019.

Those who achieved excellent EJU scores and were awarded a scholarship reservation should contact the FGL Admissions Office in advance. In particular, those who tested overseas, achieved excellent scores and were awarded a reservation may be granted a scholarship extension from next April; they may be given even higher priority than those recommended by Tohoku University.

Only international students (those whose residence status is "Student") are eligible for the scholarships described in (1) through (3).

(4) Applying to Other Scholarship Organizations after Enrolling

Application information from various scholarship organizations will be posted on faculty bulletin boards and websites. Please check this information frequently. The FGL staff cannot answer questions about these scholarships. Please inquire at your faculty's Academic Affairs office.

3. University House (UH) Sanjo Dormitory

FGL Undergraduate students are permitted to stay at the UH Sanjo dormitories for two years after their admission (October 2018-August 2020). The university will apply on the applicants' behalf, so no application is needed on their part. FGL students may move into their dorm rooms in late September. The exact date will be announced later. Dormitory fees are as follows.

Residence Fee: JPY 16,600/month

Management Fee: JPY 2,500

Paying the fees

The forms necessary for paying the fees will be distributed at the dormitory orientation.

Deposit/October & November Residence Fee and Management Fees:

Utilities from September on; Residence Fee and Management Fees from December on:

Fees will be automatically paid from an account that you specify. Payments will be made automatically on the 27th of each month.

FGL Admissions Office: fgl-exam@grp.tohoku.ac.jp

You can live at UH Sanjo for 2 years only. Extending your stay beyond this is not possible. From your third year, you will have to look for a private apartment. For information on private apartments, please inquire with a real estate agency in your area or ask at the University Co-op.

In order to rent an apartment you will need a joint guarantor. However, the university can act as your guarantor through the "Tohoku University Housing Rent Joint Surety Program." To find out about joining this program, please inquire with your faculty's Academic Affairs office.
