1. Tohoku University

(1) Philosophy & Mission

With over 100 years of history and distinguished traditions, Tohoku University has developed excellence in education and research under its principles of "Research First," "Open Doors," and "Practice-Oriented Research and Education" since its establishment in 1907. The university will maintain these traditions while looking toward even more dramatic progress in the future. As a world-leading center of education and research, it will contribute greatly to the human race by grappling with the difficult and complex issues facing the 21st century.

Tohoku University will focus its efforts of its faculties, graduate schools, and research institutes to foster ethical international leaders who will carry humanity into the future, while expanding its globally renowned creative research for the benefit of society at large.

(2) Characteristics

1) Three Foundational Ideals

"Research First," "Open Doors," and "Practice-Oriented Research and Education" — soon after its founding, Tohoku University established this set of unique ideals, the substance of which it is continually developing in response to our changing times.

2) Rich Educational Environment

Tohoku University has numerous research organizations and facilities, primarily comprising 10 undergraduate schools, 15 graduate schools, 3 professional graduate schools, and 6 research institutes. Research institute staff also participate in educational activities (there are approx. 3,000 instructors; enrollment limits are approx. 2,400 for undergraduates, 2,700 for graduate students).

3) Research University

Tohoku University is a school that continuously produces numerous internationally recognized research results and concertedly pushes forward with leading-edge research and education.

4) Active Regional/Industrial-Academic Ties

The university is actively working to expand its diverse regional and industrial ties.

5) Globalizing Education and Research

Among Japan's national universities, Tohoku University is one of the top schools in terms of agreements with overseas universities. It is actively expanding exchange in education and research. The university strives to foster globally active individuals through strong support for studying abroad by Japanese students, as well as recruitment of numerous international students.

(3) Qualities of our Students

In keeping with the above, the Tohoku University undergraduate curriculum enables students to achieve the following goals:

- 1) obtain knowledge in their specialized fields and a multifaceted perspective based on an interest in and broad knowledge of academia in general
- 2) receive the education necessary to become accomplished adults, able to contribute to society using expertise specific to their fields of specialization
- 3) develop the awareness and vision needed to assume leadership/central roles in the global community, in addition to fundamental abilities

Our undergraduate education offers a curriculum that creates organic links between General Education Subjects, which foster broad knowledge and sophistication, and Specialized Subjects, which confer basic knowledge of specialized fields. Active learning is promoted both in and outside the classroom in order to nurture autonomous learning by the students.

Tohoku University seeks students who sympathize with these values, and possess the following desires:

- the desire to make outstanding contributions as researchers by seriously addressing the issues facing humanity in the 21st century

- the desire to significantly contribute to the development of society as high-level professionals with abundant knowledge and leadership, and the strength of will, intense academic curiosity and an appropriately high level of academic abilities to realize these desires. As to what constitutes a high level of academic abilities, we expect candidates to have enrolled, and obtained excellent grades, in a wide range of high school subjects, and to possess logical thinking, problem-solving, and analytical abilities, in addition to abundant creativity, inventiveness, expressiveness, and communication skills. Students are also expected to be ethical and display leadership in their independent academic pursuits while maintaining a collaborative attitude when working with their peers.

2. Future Global Leadership (FGL) Undergraduate Courses (AMC, IMAC-U, AMB)

(1) About FGL

Tohoku University established FGL's three undergraduate courses to attract applicants from around the world who have excellent basic academic abilities and possess a global view and the desire to be internationally active.

As classes in these courses will be conducted in English, Japanese ability will not be required in the entrance examination. Because students can confidently study on the FGL courses without any knowledge of Japanese, we hope it will attract many students who have an interest in Japan and a desire to study at Tohoku University.

All courses are conducted by distinguished teaching staff and provide environments where students can learn everything from the basics of their field to the very latest knowledge. Students who fulfill the course requirements will be awarded the bachelor degree offered by that course.

The curriculum includes Japanese language classes. Some classes can be taken together with Japanese students. Moreover, students who acquire a high enough Japanese proficiency will be able to take the same classes that Japanese students take.

Exchange activities will be provided outside of the classroom too, offering many chances to learn about Japanese language and culture. Tohoku University actively conducts career support for students to help them continue to the graduate program, or find employment after graduation. This gives them opportunities to begin an active career in Japan and abroad.

Special Financial Support for FGL Students

Tohoku University may provide any of the following financed support to accepted applicants who indicated that they wish to receive a scholarship at the time of their application.

1) International students who achieved excellent scores on the entrance examination, and meet the criteria specified by Japanese Government (MEXT), will be recommended for the MEXT Scholarship, if our new proposal to reserve MEXT Scholarship seats for FGL students in 2021-2023 Admissions is accepted.*

* The result of the proposal will be announced around December, 2020.

2) Except for recipients of the scholarship described in 1) above, international students who have outstanding academic records and characters, are eligible for the President Fellowship.

3) Except for recipients of the scholarship mentioned in 1), international students who achieved excellent scores on the entrance examination, are of excellent character, and for whom studying poses economic hardships, will be eligible for the MEXT Honors Scholarship for Privately Financed International Students. However, applicants who took the 2nd stage screening in Japan and/or are already living in Japan are not eligible.

4) All accepted applicants are eligible for two years of housing at University House Aobayama.

(2) Admission Policy for the FGL Undergraduate Courses (AMC, IMAC-U, AMB)

Faculty of Science (AMC) Admission Policy

Science is the most basic field in terms of ascertaining how the natural world works. It includes a wide range of areas, from the microscopic world of subatomic particles, atomic nuclei, atoms, and molecules, to the macroscopic world of life, the Earth and the cosmos.

The Faculty of Science has seven departments and five affiliated research facilities. As one of Japan's foremost scientific research centers, the Faculty of Science's mission is to foster excellent researchers who will be pioneering figures in the 21st century and leaders who will use their scientific education in various fields. We are looking for students who have a strong interest in science, flexible ideas and intellects, and excellent problem-solving skills. They should also possess intellectual curiosity and the desire for personal development.

Advanced Molecular Chemistry Course (AMC)

The Advanced Molecular Chemistry Course provides a curriculum taught in English for students from diverse nations. It aims to foster individuals who will be capable of acting as international leaders in materials science, a field that is critical to creating new, world-changing technologies. We are seeking international students who understand the course's aims and have a strong desire to study in Japan. The written test will assess basic academic skills and English proficiency. The interview will evaluate the candidate's level of academic motivation, language ability, and communication skills.

School of Engineering (IMAC-U) Admission Policy

The School of Engineering fosters highly creative individuals who can think for themselves and who will use their broad perspective and deep knowledge of humans and nature to lead development and innovation in science and technology in the 21st century.

We are seeking students with excellent academic records and a strong desire to study at the School of Engineering, a deep interest in human society, the ability to confront the unknown, the capacity to think about things logically, the patience to develop theories and applications for themselves, a deep concern for others, and the ability to assume leadership in society.

International Mechanical and Aerospace Engineering Course (IMAC-U)

The International Mechanical and Aerospace Engineering Course (IMAC-U) seeks students who will pursue science and technology that improves peoples' lives, while being active both in Japan and abroad via exchange with students from various countries. The application screening will consist of an evaluation of the academic records from the candidate's previous schools, university entrance examination score, English proficiency test score, and a written test that will assess basic physics and mathematics proficiency, logical thinking skills, and articulation. In addition, the interview will evaluate the candidate's knowledge of science and technology, English proficiency, and enthusiasm and initiative towards learning/research.

Faculty of Agriculture (AMB) Admission Policy

The Faculty of Agriculture pursues creative basic and applied research in scientific fields, such as food, health, and environment that are closely connected to the existence and well-being of the human race. The goals of this faculty are to provide students with specialized knowledge, technical expertise, and comprehensive thinking skills. We want to encourage them to have an international perspective and be active in global society. We are seeking applicants who have strong interest and motivation regarding research in the above-mentioned fields, who will improve their individual abilities at this faculty, and who have the potential to become community leaders working autonomously to solve and boldly confront future problems.

Applied Marine Biology Course (AMB)

The Applied Marine Biology Course (AMB) seeks applicants who have obtained solid basic academic skills overseas, and will act as leaders by independently solving problems related to marine biology in an international context. Candidates will be evaluated based on a screening of their transcripts in fundamental academic areas (English, mathematics, science), and an interview to determine their knowledge/motivation regarding marine biology, logical thinking ability, and communication skills.

(3) FGL Program Capacities

The recruitment capacities for new students in each bachelor degree course are as follows.

Faculty	Department	Course	Capacity (see *1)
Faculty of Science	Department of Chemistry	Advanced Molecular Chemistry Course (AMC)	About 10
School of Engineering	Department of Mechanical and Aerospace Engineering	International Mechanical and Aerospace Engineering Course (IMAC-U)	About 15 (see *2)
Faculty of Agriculture	Department of Applied Biosciences	Applied Marine Biology Course (AMB)	About 10

*1: After admissions notification, if the number of successful applicants who complete admissions procedures is less than the program's capacity, additional applicants may be admitted from the wait list.

*2: Capacity given for the Department of Mechanical and Aerospace Engineering includes applicants from other examination divisions.

(4) Notification of 2nd Stage Screening Outcome

The examination numbers of those who pass the 2nd Stage Screening will be announced on the FGL website.

Announcement of 2 nd Stage Screening Results
Thursday, April 1, 2021 at 10:00 AM JST

- FGL Website: <https://www.insc.tohoku.ac.jp/english/degree/undergraduate-english/>
- Successful applicants will be notified by T-cens. An official letter of acceptance will be sent by postal mail to the address you provided in your application.

7. Admission Procedures

An outline of the admission procedures is as follows. Details will be explained in the Enrollment Guide.

(1) Admission Procedures Period

Admission Procedures Period	Thursday, April 1 at 10:00 AM JST – Friday, April 9, 2021 at 8:00 AM JST
-----------------------------	---

- Failure to complete the admission procedures during this period will result in loss of permission to enroll.
 - After admissions notification, if the number of successful applicants who complete admissions procedures is less than the program's capacity, additional applicants may be admitted from the wait list. We are unable to respond to any inquiries regarding the acceptance of additional applicants.

(2) Required Fees (Payments)

1) Entrance and tuition fees are as follows.

Entrance Fee	JPY 282,000
Tuition Fee	JPY 267,900 per semester x 2 = JPY 535,800/year

- The above amounts are subject to change. If fee amounts are changed, the new fees will apply from the time of the revision.
- The payment deadline will be announced in the Enrollment Guide.

2) Insurance for International Students

After admission, international students are required to enroll in insurance plans that cover medical fees for injuries/illnesses and liability. Insurance fees come to about JPY 40,000 total for the entire four years. Details will be explained in the Enrollment Guide.

8. Scholarships

1) Japanese Government (MEXT) Scholarship

International students who achieved excellent scores on the entrance examination, and meet the criteria specified by Japanese Government (MEXT), will be recommended for the MEXT Scholarship, if our new proposal to reserve MEXT Scholarship seats for FGL students in 2021-2023 Admissions is accepted.* Those selected for this scholarship will receive JPY 119,000/month for four years (as of the 2019 academic year; amount is subject to change each year), and their entrance and tuition fees will be waived. They will also receive an economy-class air ticket for travel between an international airport in their country of citizenship and Narita International Airport upon enrollment (arrival) and graduation (departure).

You will have to take certain subjects that are mandatory for MEXT Scholarship students after enrolling and maintain a GPA of over 2.30 while receiving scholarship payments. The formula used to calculate GPA will be explained when you enroll. Your GPA will be reviewed every year; if it drops below the specified level, you will be required to withdraw from the scholarship.

This scholarship has other conditions for those who are already living in Japan at the time of their application. Please inquire if this applies to you.

* The result of the proposal will be announced around December, 2020.

2) Tohoku University President Fellowship

International students who both indicated that they wish to receive a scholarship at the time of their application, and have outstanding academic records and characters, are eligible for the President Fellowship at Tohoku University. This fellowship provides a sufficient financial support to cover examination, entrance, and tuition fees. The maximum duration of the scholarship is four years. Please be aware that the President Fellowship does not include a living stipend.

After being accepted recipients will be subject to reviews of their grades and scholastic progress. Fellowship payments may be terminated if their performance is deemed inadequate.

3) MEXT Honors Scholarship for Privately-Financed International Students

If JASSO issues a call for applicants for the Reservation Program for the MEXT Honors Scholarship for Privately Financed International Students (university recommendation), Tohoku University will recommend some of its privately financed international students. Those who took the 2nd Stage Screening in Japan, or who are already living in Japan, are not eligible. Those who indicated that they wish to receive a scholarship at the time of their application, have outstanding academic records, are of excellent character, achieved excellent examination results, and are facing financial hardships in connection with their studies are eligible. Those selected for this scholarship will receive JPY 48,000 /month for half a year from October 2021 to March 2022. The President Fellowship can be received simultaneously with this scholarship. Recipients can apply through their faculty to extend this scholarship for the next academic year and onward.

*Only international students whose residence status is "Student" are eligible for these scholarships.
