

Japan Forum for Internationalization of Universities: "Accelerating Internationalization in University Education and Stimulating Global Expansion via Intercultural Collaborative Learning Networks"
AY 2023 Intercultural Collaborative Learning (ICL)
 Credit Exchange Student Application Guide

1. About the ICL Project

The six universities of the ICL Consortium (Tohoku University, Fukushima University, Tokyo University of Foreign Studies, Shinshu University, Osaka University, and Kobe University), supported by the Japan Forum for Internationalization of Universities, began "Accelerating Internationalization in University Education and Stimulating Global Expansion via Intercultural Collaborative Learning Networks (ICL Project)" in AY 2021. This project aims to increase sharing, advancement, and international mobility together with foreign and domestic organizations through Intercultural Collaborative Learning (ICL) that incorporates cooperative classes/activities for international and domestic students while expanding in Japan and abroad.

2. Learning Attainment Goals

Through classes eligible for the credit exchange, we hope to diversify the students' international learning experiences, help them form and expand student networks beyond country, region, and university, and foster, with an emphasis on international awareness, a new generation of global talent to find solutions to worldwide problems. The class content will organically incorporate meaningful interaction among students of different linguistic and cultural backgrounds to increase the quality of their learning and help them achieve learning attainment goals in each interdisciplinary field.

Interdisciplinary Field	Learning Attainment Goals
SDGs	Classes will promote understanding of Sustainable Development Goals and increase the students' ability to propose solutions to common worldwide issues from diverse perspectives as global citizens.
Earthquakes & Rebuilding	Students will study Japan's harm/disaster mitigation/prevention efforts and the restoration process following the Hanshin-Awaji and Great East Japan Earthquakes, and develop their ability to disseminate the results internationally.
Intercultural Understanding	Students will acquire new values and creativity while building understanding/acceptance of people from different linguistic and cultural backgrounds, and critically rethinking their own cultures.
Industrial-academic Cooperation & Leadership	Students will collaborate in a global environment among people who hold different values and acquire the communication skills, initiative, and leadership needed to actively discover and solve problems.
Japanese Culture & Society	Students will become well-versed in Japanese culture, history, customs, and social conditions, and develop the ability to analyze/debate Japan's strengths and problems from multiple perspectives.
Regional Communities & Cooperation	Students will gain an understanding of the strengths and problems of regional communities and the people who live there, and acquire the proposal skills and initiative to develop them from a global perspective.

3. ICL Classes (classes eligible for credit exchange)

ICL classes (Japanese or English) in six interdisciplinary fields will be offered in the 2023 school year. For a list of class subjects, please see "2023 Academic Year ICL Classes." Please see the ICL website for class details and syllabuses. Class enrollment limits and eligible school years (semesters) vary depending on the class.

4. Application Eligibility

Undergraduate students who, for the duration of the classes, will be enrolled at Tohoku University, Fukushima University, Tokyo University of Foreign Studies, Shinshu University, Osaka University, or Kobe University are eligible. (Graduate school students are not eligible.) In addition, undergraduate (or equivalent) exchange students (Special Auditing Students) may be eligible depending on the university's policies. Please inquire at your home university if you are interested.

5. Class Capacity

Some classes have enrollment limits. If the number of applicants for a class exceeds its limit, the host university will screen applicants. Please understand that you may not be able to take your desired classes.

6. Application to Enroll in ICL Classes (How to Apply)

Please follow the instructions below if you wish to enroll in ICL classes.

1. Review items in "8. Notes on Application".
2. Select (a) course(s) to enroll by looking at "3. ICL Classes (classes eligible for credit exchange)", then fill in all required items on the ICL application form.
3. Applicants will be informed of the host university's decision via a respective office listed in "15. Contact Information".
4. Successful applicants will enroll in ICL classes as per the host university's instructions.

7. Application Deadline

ICL class application Deadline will be as follows for each term.

- 1st term: March 3 (noon), 2023
- 2nd Term: TBA

8. Notes on Application

Please read the following carefully before applying.

- Check with your home university in advance and follow their instructions regarding any necessary procedures.
- Check the syllabus of your desired class to make sure you fulfill any prerequisites (e.g. English language ability).
- Class times vary among the host universities. You will not be permitted to enroll in a class if it conflicts with other classes. Check to make sure that your desired ICL class does not conflict with any classes you are taking at your home university. Check your home university's regulations to ensure you do not exceed its maximum credit limit.

9. Enrollment Status

If you are permitted to enroll in the class, your status at the host university will be Special Auditing Student.

10. Grades and Credit Approval

Grades for ICL classes will be determined by the host university. Please ask your home university how to get credits approved for ICL classes.

11. Tuition Fee Etc.

Tuition, entrance, and examination fees will not be collected for ICL classes. Please see the relevant class's syllabus to see whether it requires any training/materials fees.

12. Attending Classes

Generally, ICL classes will be held online, so you will need a computer and Internet connection to attend.

13. Start of Class, Canceling Enrollment

The starting date for ICL classes at each host university for the 1st term is shown in the table below. As a rule, once you are granted permission to enroll in an ICL class you cannot later cancel your enrollment. Before applying, please plan your class schedule carefully. If you must cancel a class for unavoidable reasons, please contact your home university using the information provided in "15. Inquiries" by the cancellation deadlines shown below. Please note that the cancellation deadline varies depending on the host university.

Host University	Start of 1st Term	Cancellation Deadline (submit to home university)
Tohoku University	April 10, 2023	April 18, 2023
Fukushima University	April 7, 2023	April 14, 2023
Tokyo University of Foreign Studies	April 10, 2023	April 19, 2023
Shinshu University	April 10, 2023	April 24, 2023
Osaka University	April 11, 2023	April 18, 2023
Kobe University	April 10, 2023	April 30, 2023

Example: A Tohoku University student wants to cancel a class at Fukushima University.

The student must contact Tohoku University using the information from "15. Inquiries" (Education and Student Support Department, Student Exchange Division, ICL Project Office) by April 14, 2023. The student cannot cancel the Fukushima University class on/after April 15.

14. Excused Absences

Students will follow the host university's rules on getting absences excused.
