Categories	学部演習
Subject	Seminor on Law, Diversity and Globalization
Day・Period	Mon.4Period
Credit(s)	2Credits
Instructor	ROOTS MAIA
Practical business
Course Type	演習 Seminar
Session	1回毎週 Once a week.
Preferable Participants	3,4年
Eligible Participants	2,3,4年次対象
Course Numbering	-E
Language	英語 English
Course of Media Class
Main Subjects	○
Styles of class(Face-to-face classes/Online classes etc.)	This class will be held in person.
How to contact and Google Classroom Code	The Google Classroom class code for this and other classes will be announced on the Faculty of Law homepage. Please enter the GC classroom for this class as soon as possible if you are interested in taking this class. If you have any questions concerning this class, please email the lecturer at roots.maia.b8@tohoku.ac.jp. NOTE: In recent years, this class has become very popular. If there are many students who wish to participate in this class, I will have to make a selection. Keep an eye on the Google Classroom notifications and submit any assignments etc required for participant selection!
Class Start Date, etc.	The first class will be on October 6th.
Class subject	CLASS SUBJECT: Law, Diversity and Globalization
Object and summary of class	COURSE OBJECTIVES AND OUTLINE: In this seminar we will be discussing the role, challenges and limitations of the law in a diverse and increasingly globalizing world by looking at 1) sexual minorities and the law, 2) transnational businesses and the law, 3) religion and the law, and 4) the international movement of people and the legal challenges that this brings about.
Goal of study	GOAL OF STUDY: Students will acquire a deeper understanding of how the law functions (or does not function) in the diverse and globalizing world of today. Students will learn about and analyze the various legal and non-legal challenges that minorities and other disadvantaged groups in society face, especially (where appropriate) in cross-border disputes or disputes that have a cross-national element.
Contents and progress schedule of the class	CONTENTS, METHOD AND PROGRESS SCHEDULE: Various reading and audio-visual materials will be used to introduce topics. Students will be expected to complete homework reading and writing assignments, engage in class discussion, and make an individual presentation. Be warned that this course entails a fair amount of reading to be done outside of class! The tentative schedule for this course is as follows: 1. Orientation 2. -4. Sexual minorities and the law 5.-7. Religion and the Law 8.-9. International Movement of People and the Law 10.-12. Transnational Businesses and the Law 13.-15. Final Presentations * Slight changes might be made to this schedule based on the number of students taking this class and their specific interests.
Record and evaluation method	GRADING CRITERIA: Class participation and assignments: 80% Individual presentation: 20%
Textbook and references	TEXTBOOKS AND REFERENCES: A suggested reading list and required reading materials will be distributed in class.
self study	WORK TO BE DONE OUTSIDE OF CLASS: Students are required to complete the assigned reading and writing tasks before coming to class. Students also need to prepare for an individual presentation.

In addition	ADDITIONAL COMMENTS: This course will be conducted in English. All students wishing to register for this course should note that attendance in all of the sessions is mandatory, and absences without a good reason and without notifying the lecturer in advance will result in failing the course. NOTE: In recent years, this class has become very popular. If there are many students who wish to participate in this class, I will have to make a selection. Keep an eye on the Google Classroom notifications and submit any assignments etc required for participant selection! 法学部の国際コースの登録者が優先的に履修できる授業です。
Last Update	2024/02/16 15:21:39

One-credit courses require 45 hours of study. In lecture and exercise-based classes, one credit consists of 15-30 hours of class time and 30-15 hours of preparation and review outside of class. In laboratory, practical skill classes, one credit consists of 30-45 hours of class time and 15-0 hours of preparation and review outside of class.