Interdisciplinary Approaches to a Resilient Society: Bridging Nursing, Computer Science, Cognitive Science, and Disaster Science

To brings together researchers and students from diverse fields, including disaster science, nursing, computer science, and cognitive science, we seek to identify new ways to work together in the future, addressing complex challenges in contemporary society.

Speaker:

Prof. David Alexander
(University Collage London)

Prof. Michiko Sakuyama
(Tohoku Bunka Gakuen University)

Dr. Miyuki Iwamoto
(Doshisha Women's College of Liberal Arts)

Dr. Ayumi Takemoto
(Tohoku University)

Venue: Institute of Gerontology, Smart Aging Research Building, 2nd Floor Seminar Room

Organize by Dr. Miwako Kitamura, Prof. Michiko Sakuyama, and Dr. Ayumi Takemoto