About NCCU ISS

As a leading institution in the humanities, social sciences, and commerce—and one of the most international campuses in Taiwan—National Chengchi University (NCCU) offers the International Summer School (ISS), a transformative six-week program that integrates Mandarin language learning, interdisciplinary academic studies, and immersive cultural experiences. Through this carefully designed journey, students gain meaningful insight into Taiwan and East Asia's dynamic development while strengthening their global competence.

The Life-CHENGCHIing Experience

"I could never have imagined how transformative this experience would be. Nearly every day brought something new and meaningful, and most importantly, I found a sense of home among incredible people from all over the world. I am deeply grateful for the opportunity to study at NCCU, and I can genuinely say that this month and a half changed my life."

— TJ, ISS 2025

"The courses were well organized, with each lesson building seamlessly on the last. The instructors' expertise and passion made learning engaging, while their approachable teaching style created a supportive environment. Interacting with a diverse group of peers also offered valuable perspectives from different cultural and academic backgrounds. Overall, ISS is a truly special and thoughtfully designed program."

— Faisal, ISS 2024
Chulalongkorn University, Thailand

"This was my first time taking classes completely outside my field—politics, art, and culture—which felt worlds apart from dentistry. I had an absolute blast and can honestly say it was the time of my life. It was the perfect way to spend the last three months of my summer vacation. Out of the many summer programs available worldwide, NCCU stood out for a reason—and it not only met but exceeded my expectations."

— Tyl, ISS 2024
KU Leuven, Belgium
